Donation Drive for Kerala Flood Relief

A flood is an overflow of water that submerges land usually meant to be dry. While multiple reasons can cause floods, heavy rainfall is the most common. To help the 'Kerala Flood Relief people, a donation drive was organised at Delhi Metropolitan Education, sector 62 Noida, from 27th August to 1st Sept 2018. Lots of donations in cash, as well as in-kind, were received by the students. DME faculty members and other staff members also contributed part of their salary towards the said initiative to collect the amount that can contribute towards the relief fund.

All the collected donations were taken to the NGO – Sarvhit, F -56, Sector 51, Noida, on September 1, 2018. The NGO centre is also working for Kerala relief people and many other areas, so our donations will also be added up and delivered in Kerala. Blood Donation Camp

Community Connect Cell organised a blood donation camp in collaboration with the national thalassemia welfare society and Dr Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital, Delhi, as an initiative of govt. scheme “Rakhtdaan Amrit Mahotsav.” Director General Mr Justice Bhanwar Singh and Vice Chairman Mr Aman Sahni's presence motivated students to donate blood for social causes. Director Dr Ravi Kant Swami was a source of great encouragement by being the first donor.

The auditorium was abuzz with young students, faculty members and senior dignitaries having conversations with each other, happy to be able to play their part in lending a helping hand to people suffering from thalassemia. Thalassemia is a blood disorder passed down through families (inherited) in which the body makes an abnormal form or inadequate amount of haemoglobin. Haemoglobin is the protein in red blood cells that carries oxygen. The disorder destroys many red blood cells, leading to anaemia.

A significant number of participation was seen from all three departments of law, BBA and BJMC. A record-breaking 137 people turned up, from which 87 donors donated their blood. Before the blood collection, there was a blood sample collection to state whether or not a person was fit to donate blood by checking their haemoglobin levels. Blood donors were given bananas, biscuits, and frooti to re-energize them. The community coordinated the program connect society of DME.

One Student, One Tree Campaign

Keeping in view the occasion of ‘world environmental health day’ celebrated every year, following the concept of “one student, one tree campaign”, DME decided to initiate the tree plantation drive on 23rd August 2018.

The objective of this event is to teach students that future humanity depends on how we interact with our environment, how we hand over a healthy and resourceful environment to the future generation, and how we express our concern towards the environment. This was a great initiative to make our atmosphere neat and clean. By tree plantation, we can develop a climax ecosystem free of greenhouse gasses to reduce global warming and beautify scenic beauty areas. Students and faculty members were asked to reach the site at 2:30 p.m. The program started with the students' chanting “Vriksh Lagao, Desh Bachao” and “Don’t be mean- keep it green etc.” which created a resonating sound.

DME students shall continue participating in such events, drive in the future, and make it successful each time.

Diwali For All

On 5th November 2018, DME's community connect team celebrated Diwali on the occasion of international world charity day, celebrated annually with the kids of the NGO Niveda Foundation, considering the importance of 'child rights day' located at Sector 25, Noida. Niveda Foundation is an independent organisation working to improve our society in education, health and wellness, livelihood and women empowerment. The packaging of gifts was done by students on 3rd November 2018. Each year students visit NGOs to celebrate the Diwali festival with the children.

This time the bundle of joy was waiting for 120 kids there; they were waiting for us. The anchors, Saurabh and Gayatri of 3rd year, started interacting with the children. Then the performances were given by dance society members and music society members on hit numbers. Engaging children to dance and sing their favourite songs like bum- bum bole and dilbar. It was followed by knowing and telling them the true meaning of celebrating the festival of lights-Diwali. We also visited the classrooms and school, which were beautiful and filled with innovative ideas.

Then it was followed by an exciting activity of decorating diyas. Each kid was given a diya to colour and decorate with the help of mirrors, and every one beautifully decorated their diyas. Then, the gifts were given to the children containing different tasty food items. The children were happy to see the advantages and enjoyed themselves after getting gifts. Then the photos were clicked, and we went back to college. The visit ended by happily teaching everyone that charity begins at home.

Book Donation Drive

To be able to read is one of the most underrated privileges in the world. To inculcate a love for reading in the minds of young children, a book donation drive for the unfortunate, underprivileged children and needy children was organised in India to celebrate the “National Education Day” every year, which is also the birthday of Maulana Abdul Kalam Azad, eminent educationist and the first education minister of Independent India.

On this auspicious occasion, DME organised a book donation drive in collaboration with the Niveda Foundation on 8th November, wherein books were sent to needy children in nearby slum areas. The said drive was organised keeping in mind the government scheme of ‘Sarva Shiksha Abhiyaan’. Students had put up a few donation boxes around the campus for everyone to be able to contribute their part by donating books for the children. Approx. One hundred forty-five students participated in this event to make it successful.

First Legal Aid Camp at Hoshiarpur Village, Gautam Buddha Nagar

On the occasion of National Legal Services Day, which is marked every year to celebrate the commencement of the Legal Services Authorities Act 1987, a team of seven faculty members of the DME legal aid committee headed to the Hoshiarpur Village to conduct the first legal aid camp in the series of many and to create legal awareness, especially amongst the women and children of the village. As DME legal aid committee has adopted Hoshiarpur as a model village, in pursuance of its commitments, this camp was held at the Madhyamik Vidyalaya and the Anganwadi Kendra of the town.

The team bifurcated into two as one group headed to the school to set up the camp, while the group headed out to the village to find potential grounds for conducting different camps. They managed to approach the headmistress of the girl's government inter-college, sector 51, Gautam Buddha Nagar, to ask permission to run legal awareness programmes for young adolescent girls and the school's teachers. Ms Hemlata, the girls' Government Inter College headmistress, welcomed us graciously. She assured us to be an active part of the legal awareness campaign initiated by DME law school.

The first team, with the aid and assistance of Ms Rajani Yadav, the head of the Anganwadi Programme in Hoshiarpur village and Mr Ajay Kumar Yadav, the sarpanch of the town, set up a camp to create legal awareness amongst the children and conduct a preliminary survey of the village. The data was collected from the city to ascertain the specific litigious areas for the villagers so that targeted legal aid could be provided. This survey shall have juridical value and be helpful for academic purposes. The centre aimed to understand the kind of litigation, if any, the village people, especially the women, were embroiled in.

Finally, the gathering was addressed by Mr Parashar, the Head of the legal aid committee. He stressed a tight-knit network of legal aid where all those people of the village, who cannot realise their rights for any reason, are encouraged to become capable of interacting with the legal system without any fear or hesitation.

This was followed by quite an illuminating insight presented by Ms Rajani Yadav. She stated that for the legal camp to succeed in its objective, we must first understand the ethos and fibre of the village and its people. A grass root level interaction by the officials is necessary. She averred that the awareness awakening in the town's people was not a one-way path and that even the officials and volunteers involved with the process should put themselves into the shoes of ordinary people to understand their problems. She insisted that for a successful legal aid campaign, there has to be a wholesome interaction with the people of the village to gauge their understanding of the law and their vested rights.

With this, the one-day camp at Hoshiarpur village came to an end.
